TERRE HAUTE BOOSTERS IN GREENCASTLE

SPECIAL TRAIN HAULS VIGO COUNTY BUSINESS WHO ARRIVE HERE TUESDAY MORN-ING ON A THREE DAYS "GET TOGETHER" TRIP

BUSINESS TALKING TRIP

Delayed by a freight wreck, which up their special Pullman train more than an hour, the "more than a hundred" Terre Haute Boosters arrived here at shortly after 10 Tuesday over the Van-due. Because of the delay their visit was cut from 50 minutes to 25 minutes. Automobiles met the boosters at the Vandalia station and brought them to the court house, where a meeting was held.
The meeting was held on the south side of the Court house.
The Terre Haute boosters who came by the way, allege their endeavor for the betterment of the Wabash Valley, are full of pep was shown by the singing of some regular boosters' songs by the merchants, bankers, professional men, laborers, professors and others who make up their party.
John Ryan, one of the most prominent and eloquent catholic priests in the state spoke in behalf of the visitors. Father Ryan emphasized that fact that the Terre Haute men are not out on a business trip, but are simply out to help the people of the Wabash Valley in a "betterment" movement. Better Americanism, better roads, better living conditions and a general betterment of the great Wabash Valley, was the theme of his talk.
Some moving pictures were taken of the crowd which attended the meeting. Before the Terre Haute men were sent into autos and taken to the train station, to which their train had been switched.
They continued their trip south on Monday, Cloverdale being the first

LOVERDALES HAS SCHOOL ELECTION ON

PROPOSITION TO BUILD A NEW BUILDING IN TOWN WILL BE VOTED UPON BY THE PEOPLE OF THE TOWNSHIP ON SATUR-DAY NIGHT

ACTIVE CAMPAIGN IS ON

An active campaign for the erection of a new common and High school at Cloverdale, is now on, and the people of Cloverdale township, will, on Saturday night, vote on the proposition. Although there is some opposition to the movement, it is believed that the election will result in a victory for those desiring the erection of a building.
On Tuesday night a big meeting was held in the Opera house in Cloverdale, by the advocates of the new building. Lee Driver, superintendent of the Randolph county schools, and most interesting talker, made an address in which he told of the rural school advance in his county.
County Superintendent Wallace, attended in behalf of the new school building. The Opera house, was crowded and those present were given some interesting data on the school improvement campaign.
Previous to the speeches, the publishers of the Cloverdale schools gave a very interesting musical program.
Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Dickerson of Cadiz, Ohio, are here visiting Dr. and Mrs. George R. Grose and

Dr. and Mrs. Dickerson.

WEDDING MARCH AND CUPID HISTORY ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT

Miss Mary Louise Renick and Whitefield Murphy will wed.
Many have been the announcements of approaching nuptials, and they have been in various forms since they first began publishing the bans, but it is doubtful if a plighted troth was ever more happily and prettily proclaimed than was that of Miss Renick and Mr. Murphy in the First Christian church Sunday morning.
Miss Renick is a member of the Philathea class of the First Christian church Sunday school, and as the classes were reassembling in the church auditorium after the morning lesson Sunday the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march filled the auditorium with its joyous melody.
Pupils and teachers alike waited expectantly for an explanation. Mrs.
R. W. Jenkins, teacher Philathea class, mounted the rostrum and in a few brief sentences told of the wedding feast at which the Savior was a guest, and turned the water into wine.
Mrs. L. B. Kline told a pretty story of the betrothal and marriage customs of the Philippine islands, where she was at one time a missionary.
Miss Grace (McCarthy) told of the Chinese customs of giving in marriage, and Mrs. Jenkins described the Hindu service.
Miss Wilma Munn told of the various kinds of American marriage ceremonies picturing the church wedding as the most inspiring and beautiful of all.
And then—Miss Renick was presented as the bride-to-be of Whitefield Murphy.
The wedding, it was stated, will take place at the First Christian church Wednesday, November 19, at 3 p. m.
Miss Opal Hall sang "At Dawning."
Mrs. C. H. Dorman sang "How I Do Love Thee," and Miss Alynne Rucker, president of the Philathea class, presented the bride-to-be with a beautiful "bride's book" as a gift from the class.
Miss Renick is a daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. H. S. Renick, 2413 Milam street. She is a graduate of the Houston High school and has a host of friends there. Mr. Murphy is an employee of the Texas company.

The above announcement appeared in the Houston, Texas, Post of recent date. Miss Renick is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Renick, formerly of this city but now residing Houston.

Waiting for Something to Drop

JACOB KIEFER OVER COME BY SULPHIDE GAS

CUSTODIAN OF DEPAUW CHEM-ISTRY LABORATORY WAS IN CRITICAL CONDITION FOR SEV-ERAL HOURS WEDNESDAY MORNING

STUDENT GAVE THE ALARM

Jacob Kiefer, custodian of the chemistry laboratory at DePauw University, was overcome by hydrogen sulphide gas Wednesday while endeavoring to wire a cork in a generator of the gas. For a time Mr.
Kiefer's condition was regarded as critical. He is now out of danger, however.

The accident occurred in the laboratory for second year students of chemistry, on the second floor of the Minshall Laboratory building. Pauline Norris, a student of chemistry, was in the laboratory working when the accident occurred and Virginius Moore, an advanced student in chemistry, was near by.

The screams of Miss Norris, when Mr. Kiefer fell to the floor unconscious were heard by Mr. Moore and also Dr. W. M. Blanchard, head of the department of chemistry, who was conducting a class on the first floor of the building.

Mr. Moore was the first to reach the scene of the accident. On discovering the situation he ran for Dr.
J. P. Naylor who was conducting a Physics class on the same floor of the building.

Dr. Blanchard and several students from his class soon reached Mr. Kiefer and commenced giving him artificial respiration.

Dr. C. C. Tucker soon arrived in response to a call from Prof. Naylor and administered medical aid to Mr.
Kiefer. Mr. Kiefer was taken to his home by Dr. Teker.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stroube, of Indianapolis, formerly of this city, have received a cablegram from their son, Sergeant Esthel O. Stroube, stating that he has received his discharge from the army and that he has been appointed to a position on the Inter-Allied Rhineland Commission.
Stroube was a member of the Rainbow division. He expects to be home for Christmas.

Mrs. Florence Dunbar expects to leave the last of the week for Washington, D. C. where she will spend the winter with relatives.

The University service will be held next Sunday afternoon in Meharry hall. Dr. Grose will preach the sermon.

WILSON ASKS DEFEAT OF TREATY WITH CHANGES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—A letter from President Wilson, advising administration senators to vote against ratification of the treaty with the foreign relations committee reservations, was laid before a conference of the administration senators today by Democratic Leader Hitchcock.

The committee program, the President wrote, would provide not for ratification, "but rather for the nullification of the treaty."

Judge Hughes in a recent decision has set aside the verdict of the jury in the Putnam Circuit court, in which Nick Schrepferman, a Clay county miner, and the Northern Coal Co. of Chicago, were the litigating parties. The coal company had filed suit against the Clay county miner for failure to deliver coal on a contract. The jury in rendering its verdict made a "split" verdict, giving each Mr. Schrepferman and the coal company damages. The miner in his answer had filed a claim for coal delivered, but not paid for by the coal company.

BARN BURNING DAMAGE CASE UP FOR TRIAL

CASE IN WHICH CLOVERDALE TOWNSHIP FARMER ASKS
DAMAGES OF MEN WHO OPER-ATED A CORN SHREDDING OUTFIT TO START TRIAL IN PUTNAM CIRCUIT COURT
THURSDAY

A FARMER ASKS DAMAGES

Alleging that his barn was burned through the negligence of Thomas Morris and W. W. Moser, who, while operating a shredding machine, allowed a spark from the engine to ignite his barn, Frank Meredith, a Cloverdale township farmer, is asking damages of the two men, in a case which is set for a trial in the Putnam Circuit court on Thursday.
The fire occurred last fall and the case was filed soon afterwards, but trial has been delayed because of the fact that the parties in the suit were not ready for trial.

R. G. McCutchen has announced the booking of Miss Ethelynde Smith, soprano and an all-American artist,
to open the DePauw Musical School Artists Series, here on Tuesday eve-sachusetts coast town; Indiana landscapes and characteristic views giving glimpses of Greencastle; paintings of the nude, in woodland setting, done out of doors in the Catskills and full of the atmospheric charm which artists find in that mountain region; studies in still life, figure composition, and portraits. The varied collection was particularly well hung and well lighted for a residence display.

The guests for the tea, to be given this afternoon, will be members of the art department of the Woman's Department Club. The third tea next Wednesday afternoon, will have as

Alpha Club. On Friday afternoon
Mr. and Mrs. Burnet will entertain ing will give a talk in the clubhouse

ELEVENTH HOUR EFFORT IS MADE TO COMPROMISE

PRESIDENT SERVES NOTICE THAT HE WILL NOT ACCEPT RESERVATIONS THAT HAVE BEEN ADOPTED—HITCHCOCK
HOPES TO KEEP FACT ALIVE
FIRST RATIFICATION RESOLU-TION IS DEFEATED

DECISION DUE TOMORROW

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—On the eve of a final vote on the on the peace treaty, President Wilson gave the Senate to understand that unless it modified the reservations already adopted he would take the treaty back to the White House and lock it up in his desk.

The first effect of this warning was to stiffen the lines on both sides of the Senate fight. Then compromise proposals of many kinds were thrown out by the Democrats in a final effort to break into the majority program. They found the treaty's Republican friends, all of whom had voted for the reservations, disposed to listen but to promise nothing, and today the life of the treaty seemed to hang upon a slender thread.

A decision one way or the other is planned for Wednesday, and under the cloture rule the leaders say it can not be delayed beyond Thursday or Friday.

To-day the Senate will remain in session until it has cleared away all proposed reservations, leaving nothing to do but act upon the ratification resolution itself. Four reservations, two of them proposed by the foreign relations committee, were voted down and none was adopted.

The President's determination was made known at a White House conference with Democratic Leader Hitchcock, who declared afterward that Mr. Wilson never would have an opportunity to pocket the treaty because his supporters in the Senate would vote down any ratification resolution that contained the unacceptable reservations. The Senate leader reiterated his belief that once such a resolution is defeated there will be a compromise that will keep the treaty alive.

HOUSE PASSES RAILROAD BILL; VOTE, 203-159

MEASURE PROVIDES FOR RE-TURN TO PRIVATE OWNER-SHIP WITH BOARD FEDERAL CONTROL—LEGISLATION NOW
GOES TO SENATE FOR CONSID-ERATION AT DECEMBER TERM

AWAITS THE NEXT SESSION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The Esch railroad bill, providing for private ownership and operation of rail carriers, under board Federal supervision, was passed by the House, 203 to 159. The measure goes to the Senate, but it will not be taken up there until the regular session in December.

A majority of the Democratic members opposed the bill, after their failure to eliminate the provision for government guarantee of revenues of the carriers for the first six months of renewed private operation.

Mrs. George Kitt, of Kinston, Canada is expected to arrive on Thursday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. C.

VITAL SECTION RESERVATION BLOW TO PACT

LANGUAGE VIRTUALLY THAT WHICH PRESIDENT DECLARED MEAN REJECTION OF COVENANT—REPUBLICANS CAST SOLID VOTE FOR CHANGE, WHICH CARRIES, 46 TO 33

4 DEMOCRATS AID G. O. P.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Squaring the issue with President Wilson, the Senate adopted a reservation qualifying the obligations of the United States under Art. 10 of the league of nations covenant. A solid Republican lineup, reinforced by four Democratic votes, put the reservation across exactly as it came from the foreign relations committee and virtually the language which the President declared on his Western tour would cut the heart out of the covenant and mean the rejection of the treaty. The vote by which the reservation won was 46 to 33.

The fight for reservations having thus been carried to a climax, the Republicans presented for the future action a cloture proposal designed to bring final action on the question of ratification with in a week. A less sweeping measure, proposing limitation on the reservation debate only, had been put in by the Democrats earlier in the day, but rejected when the Republicans voted to sustain a point of order against it. A vote on the question of clamping down a cloture on debate will come Saturday morning, and the Republican leaders say it will depend entirely on the Democrats whether the move nullifies the necessary two-thirds to make cloture effect. The Democratic leaders were not ready last night to say how they would vote, being fearful the agreement to so sweeping a program might imperil their chances to secure action on a ratification resolution of their own.

Text of Reservation.
The Art. 10 reservation as adopted by the Senate follows:
"The United States assumes no obligation to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any other country or to interfere with controversies between nations—whether members of the leagues or not—under the provision of Art. 10, or to employ the military or naval forces of the United States under any article of the treaty for any purpose, unless in any particular case Congress, which under the constitution has the sole power to declare war or authorize the employment of the military or naval forces of the United States, shall by act or joint resolution so provide."

In only two particulars does this language differ from the proposed reservation which the President declared at Cheyenne, Wyo., he would be obliged to regard as a rejection. As read by Mr. Wilson the phrase "under the provisions of Art. 10" occurred at a different place and the final word "provide" was changed to "declare."

BROADSTREET GIVEN DAMAGE BY THE JURY

CLOVERDALE TOWNSHIP FARMER, AWARDED $600 IN CASE GROWING OUT OF THE SALE OF CORN TO BE "SHUCKED DOWN IN THE FIELD"—PAID FOR CORN HE NEVER GOT

ASKED DAMAGES OF $800

Cass Broadstreet, a Cloverdale township farmer, was awarded judgment of $600 by a jury in the Putnam Circuit court, on Saturday evening, against Albert M. Hood and Doc P. McKamey, two other Cloverdale farmers, in a case which grew out of a sale of 500 bushels of corn at a public sale in the field.

Broadstreet bought 500 bushels of corn at the sale and gave notes for $800 in payment of the corn. By the terms of the sale the corn was to be "shucked down in the field." Before the corn was shucked, Eel river got on a rampage and washed all the corn away.

The sellers of the corn alleged that it was Broadstreet's fault because he did not get the corn, but Broadstreet alleged that the corn never had been shucked for him.

The case was on trial for three days, and the jury started deliberations Saturday at noon. At 7:30 o'clock Saturday night the jury returned a verdict in favor of Broadstreet.

Allee and James and Jackson Boyd represented Broadstreet, while Hays and Murphy represented the defendants. The case created quite an amount of interest, especially in Cloverdale township where the men are well known.

SEVEN KILLED IN A CRASH AT BUFFALO

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 18.—Seven persons were killed today when a New York Central passenger train struck an automobile at a grade crossing. Six victims were nurses.

The dead are: William Mummery, his daughter, Doris Mummery, and Fannie Breeze, of Buffalo; Myrtle Hodgins, St. Catharines, Ontario; Jennie McMillan, Tavistock, Ontario; Myrtle Nunn, Fenwick, Ontario, and Jean Scott, Galt, Ontario.

The women were nurses at the Homeopathic hospital. A freight train held the machine at the crossing. As soon as the last car of the freight cleared the crossing Mummery sent his machine ahead, unaware that a passenger train was approaching on the next track.

The pilot of the engine caught the automobile and carried it down the track a quarter of a mile, throwing out the occupants and crushing them to death.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The current number of Vanity Fair says about Hugh Walpole who lectures in the High school auditorium on the evening of Dec. 1. "Mr. Walpole is one of the most successful living British men of letters, and the son of the Bishop of Edinburgh, is at present in America where he will stay for several months traveling, lecturing and observing the land and the people. No one can lecture more artfully and more absorbingly than Mr. Walpole."

DePauw has its Wabash and Greencastle High school has its Bainbridge. Although Bainbridge is a much smaller school than Greencastle and in many ways there is little comparison between the two schools, when it comes to basketball the north Putnam school have always made the local team "hump."

This year the first clash between these county rivals will be Friday night in the local gymnasium. Greencastle won from Amo, the score being 25 to 10, Amo has won from Bainbridge, the score 25 to 19 and Greencastle fans are predicting the home lads to triple the score on the Bainbridge High school five Friday night.

As a curtain raiser for the Greencastle-Bainbridge game Ed. Wright, manager of the local team has scheduled a contest with the Cloverdale quintet.

SERVICES AT COLLEGE AVE. IMPRESSIVE

SERVICE FLAG, WITH ONE GOLD STAR, IS GIVEN TO MR. AND MRS. LINCOLN SNIDER, PARENTS OF THE ONLY MEMBER OF THE CHURCH TO LOSE LIFE IN WAR

WILLIAM P. EVANS SPEAKS

"Throughout the conflict God was in the fight, helping for the good of mankind," said William P. Evans, deputy prosecutor of Marion county, at the College Avenue church Sunday morning to an audience which filled the large auditorium. The service was in commemoration of Armistice Day together with the taking down the church service flag. Mr. Evans who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Evans, of this city, gave an eloquent address Sunday morning declaring the "Star Spangled Banner" does stir the hearts of all Americans, and that "there is no place in the United States for the discontented," he loudly praised the spirit of such men as Perry Snider, the only College Avenue church member to die in the service, and others who went forth to fight and die for their homes, their friends and their oag.

The service flag was replaced by a Christian activities flag on which there are 80 blue stars surrounding a cross of gold. The war service flag was given to Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Snider, parents of Perry Snider, and is to be kept by this family for the church. Gilbert Snider, brother of the fallen hero accepted the tag from Dr. W. M. Blanchard of the official board.

Miss Martha J. Ridpath spoke for a few minutes of the loyalty of the young men who went forth to die if need be for their country and said she wished that they would now be as valiant in life as they were in facing death. The majority of the students represented by stars on the war service flag have been members of the Martha J. Ridpath Sunday school class of College Avenue church. Rev. Blaine E. Kirkpatrick, pastor of the College Avenue church, spoke briefly in representing the Christian Activities' flag.

DEATH OF MRS. ELMO HALL OCCURS FRIDAY

The death of Mrs. Minnie E. Hall, age 51 years, wife of Elmo Hall, occurred Friday morning at 6 o'clock at the home, and burial was in the Apple streets, of heart disease, following an illness of more than two years. Beside her husband she leaves one son, Ralph, of Indianapolis.

The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home, and burial will be in the Forest Hill cemetery. The Rev. Levi Marshall conducted the services.

THE FEDERAL LAND BANK OF LOUISVILLE DECLARES DIVIDEND

Mr. R. S. Fouts, secretary-treasurer of the Putnam County National Farm Loan Association, of Greencastle, has just received notice from the Federal Land Bank, of Louisville that the Directors have declared a dividend of six per cent per annum on all stock held by national farm loan associations. This will enable this association to declare a dividend to its shareholders, who are farmers in this vicinity borrowing from the Federal Land Bank. This dividend is not unexpected by persons acquainted with the progress being made by the bank. Although it has been in business for a little more than two years it has paid all of its organization expense and has placed twenty-five per cent of its net earnings in reserve account, and after paying this dividend has a nice sum left in the undivided profits.

The Louisville bank now has loans of more than $19,000,000 and it is estimated they will increase to $30,000,000 within the next year.

DOUBLE WIN IS RECORDED FOR G. H. S.

Greencastle (first team) 25, Amo, 10; Greencastle (second team) 24, Fillmore 1.

The Greencastle High school basketball teams won two victories Friday night in the High school gymnasium when the first team defeated Amo by a score of 25 to 10 and Greencastle High school second team won from Fillmore, the score being 24 to 1.

The contests were attended by the largest crowd that ever paid admission to the High school basketball games. The enthusiasm during the game was at high pitch, for Park Bryan, the Greencastle High school yell leader keeping the purple and gray rooters growling the entire evening.

The only event which marred the evening was that Marvin Massey, forward of the second team, fell while playing and fractured two bones on his right arm. Massey attempted to make a quick turn when he collided with a Fillmore player and fell.

Allen, the tall Greencastle center began the local scoring when he placed a foul goal. This goal was closely followed with two field goals by Allen. Irwin increased the 5 point lead over Amo with two field goals. Amo then retaliated with a foul. The remainder of the first half was fast but lack of team work was evident in the visiting five. The score at the end of the first half was 13 to 3.

The second half proved much more interesting than the first, the Amo lads putting up a better fight and as a result captured 7 points. Greencastle played an even game and obtained 12 more points.

As a result of game "dope" would have Greencastle a victor over Bainbridge next Friday night when the north Putnam lads come to Greencastle pent on humbling their rival, as Amo won from Bainbridge last week at Amo with a several point margin.

The result of Greencastle second team with Fillmore team was a great surprise to home folks. Although expecting to lose, Assistant Coach Ed. Wright's five played the Fillmore quintet off its feet allowing only one score for the visitors.

The summary and line-up for the Greencastle-Amo game was as follows:

Greencastle, 25	Amo, 19
Harris	Berry
Irwin	f
Allen	c
J. Hirt	g
L. Hirt	g
Substitutions, Talbott for Harris, Rheald for Green, Chiten for Clark.
Field goals, Allen 6; Irwin, 4; Clark, 3; Green, foul goals, Allen, 5; Berry, 2.
Referee, Ellis.

NOTES OF THE GAME

C. C. Hillis, Sherman Crayton, Ralph Phillips and Miss Nellie Leachman, faculty members of the Amo High school saw the Greencastle-Amo basketball game Friday night. Miss Madona Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thomas, although not a High school student, was at the game Friday night and won a lot of notice because of a sign she carried, which read, "Sit over, some one is standing." Although the sign was cleverly written it failed to bring about the desired effect as Miss Madona stood up during the game.

Ed. Walls, Max Ricketts, Harry Moore and Roy Abrams, four Greencastle business men, can always be counted upon to be at the game and to loyally support the Greencastle High school squad. They all were present Friday night.

Many High school Alumni DePauw University students enjoyed the game Friday night.

Mayor Rupert Bartley hardly could sit still Friday night, so enthused was he over the Greencastle-Amo contest.

Miss Kathryn Rodman, of Fostoria, Ohio who is in Greencastle coaching the High school students for the coming musical entertainment the "Wishing Ring," was present Friday night and rooted for Greencastle.

Milo West was present. Mr. West who is one of Putnam county's prominent farmers has two important occupations, one is farming and the other is rooting for the Greencastle High school. He is the kind of rooter that puts "pep" in the team.

C. C. HUESTIS A STATE FARM BOARD MEMBER

KEEP ALIVE THE THRIFT MOVEMENT

GOVERNMENT IS BEHIND MOVE TO CONTINUE GOOD WORK STARTED DURING THE WAR—A PATRIOTIC DUTY

HOW THE GOVERNMENT SAVED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—It is just as patriotic, if not more so, to save today as it was during the war.

This message is to be blazoned across Indiana in the months to come, as it is now realized that upon the future success of the youthful thrift movement started by the Treasury department, much of the happiness of the people depends.

When the Treasury department opened a special Indiana division to urge thrift upon the people, a new idea in government service was had. In times past, economy was a good thing to talk about now and then, especially during political campaigns, but never had a definite thrift movement been given consideration by the government. The success already had in Indiana as well as in other states is sufficient to make it almost a national necessity that the government shall continue the work with the utmost zeal.

The government is putting its house in order rapidly and is setting a fine example for those who want to practice thrift in their homes. In the last few months, the expenditures of the government have been less than for some time and the difference between the expenditure and the income has been less than it was for any month since the war began. Cutting off expenses here and there, ruthlessly eliminating every source of waste, releasing thousands of employees taken on during the war and refusing to consider urgent requests for money departments, all have had considerable to do with this record, a wonderful achievement when it is remembered that Senator Smoot of Utah, one of the recognized financiers of the Senate, insisted the expenditures this year would increase instead of decrease.

The Treasury department has had assistance from the War department where some billions of dollars were saved through prompt settlement of war contracts with the contractors. That the salvage was so great is generally regarded as a remarkable testimonial to the men who served on the committees making the settlements.

The idea which the government wants to spread over Indiana is that by saving now in the days of plenty, the individual may have a fine opportunity later to help himself and his country. It is believed by some men that three or four years from now a period of money stringency will set in. It will be a natural reaction to come after three years of prosperity to dawn the moment that the Senate ratifies the peace treaty. The man who has saved and who can continue purchasing from his savings in the days of stringency will be able to buy at better prices because his dollar will have increased in value and also he will be able through his purchases to keep thousands at work who otherwise might be idle. The government has no desire to lessen the opportunity of trade today but regardless of how successful the thrift movement of today is, there will be plenty of purchases to consume the entire production.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Levings and family of Paris, Ill., motored to Greencastle Sunday to visit friends.

Armenian Maidens, Spared From Death, Now in Turkish Harems.

Thirty thousand Armenian girls, spared from death during the Turkish massacre in the Van and Bitlis regions and now leading lives of slavery in Turkish harems, have appealed to the American Red Cross for aid in obtaining their freedom.

Nothing was heard from these girls for months after their capture and it was believed they had been slain by the Turks. Recently pitiful appeals for liberation from harems in Anatolia and European Turkey indicate their plight.

Colonel Haskell, high commander for the allies to Armenia, has appealed for military aid as a background for diplomatic negotiations. The American Red Cross is asked for financial backing necessary for the work of liberating the women.

BIRDS SEEN ON BATTLEFIELDS

Paid Little Attention to Fire of Artillery.

EXPERT GIVES OBSERVATIONS

Soldier Who Was Also an Ornithologist Writes of His Experiences in France—Bullfinches Peacefully Feed, Headless of Fokkers Droning Directly Overhead—Robin Sings on While Big Shells Explode Nearby—Bird Hunt Interrupted.

Stories of birds taking their chances in the din and ravages of battle are supplemented by the personal experiences of Ludlow Griscom, who gave such time to his favorite study of ornithology as he could spare from his duties as a soldier and who records his observations in the journal of the Museum of Natural History. He found in the zone abundance of crows, magpies, blue jays, rooks, titmice, wood pigeons, swallows, martins, chaffinches, jays, larks, starlings, buntings, goldfinches and other species. Writing of one trip as a dispatch carrier, which took him to Saint-Die, through the spruce forests of the Vosges, Mr. Griscom says:

"Saint-Die itself was partly in ruins, and was considered an unhealthy spot due to constant bombing, shelling and gassing—the last apparently the favorite method of annoyance. Everybody carried a gas mask at all times, and had picked a cellar into which to retire rapidly when a yearning for seclusion seized him. It was astonishing, therefore, to see the full quota of house sparrows quivering on the roof tops, the swallows flying up and down the main street. They had no gas masks, and it is hardly likely that they descended to cellars. Just what they did was a mystery."

Did Not Mind Fokkers. "When the dusk gathered the great guns began to thunder a scant mile away. In the garden of the old chateau which was used as headquarters was a tree laden with fruit. Here by the light of the setting sun, three beautiful bullfinches were peacefully feeding on the crimson berries, heedless of three Fokkers which droned directly overhead. Unperturbed and unharmed they finished their meal, and then disappeared in the gathering gloom, leaving behind an impression so strong by its sharp contrast that it is given deeply on my memory."

At the end of October I was ordered to the first army sector. The hills northwest of Verdun had been selected as an excellent sending station for a certain type of balloon, and I was sent there on November 2 to start a station. As we approached Verdun the country appeared more and more wrecked until it could be described as totally ruined in the hills to the northwest. There, where the flower of young French men had died by the tens of thousands, there was nothing but a succession of shell holes. The trenches were partly filled in, the barbed wire entanglements were just as they had been left at the last triumphant advance, and here and there a few blasted tree trunks did duty for a wood. Vegetation even was scant. A kestrel hovered over the dreary waste; a flock of goldfinches twittered around a thistle, and a great grey shrike had taken up his quarters in a barbed wire entanglement.

Heard a Wren Singing. "As dusk fell we descended into a steep little valley to the ruined village of Fremenville, and elected to spend the night in one of the few houses which still boasted of a roof. That night the artillery fire at the front rose to the intensity of drum fire. The allied heavy guns were concealed in the hills along a line lying a mile or two south of us. These joined merrily in the chorus, so that in the early morning the ground fairly shook."

"The approach of dawn brought quiet, permitting a brief rest and I was astonished to hear a wren singing in the rafters nearby, as I woke up. A bird hunt in this ruined village and its outskirts started immediately. Wrens were common, the smashed roofs and torn rafters furnishing them an abundance of hiding places among which they ducked and bobbed. Robin redbreasts were also common, singing sweetly in every bush that remained. Along the little brook flowing through the village was a solitary white wag-tail, and a great tit kept its some sort of company in a willow bush near by. House sparrows were chattering around the church, and a flock of tree sparrows were feeding around the horse pond. Add a flock of rooks flying past overhead and a pair of yellow buntings in a field just outside the village, and we have quite a list for such a locality. Later on a few shells burst on a hillside about a quarter of a mile away, to which the birds in the village paid not the slightest attention."

Bird Hunt Interrupted. "Somewhat late," he writes, "the bird hunt was rudely interrupted by the scream of a shell which fell near a field hospital in the outskirts of the village. A second shell, a 14-inch high explosive, ploughed through the roof of the church. Right opposite me was a bush, on each side of which reason was piled in such a way that down among the roots there was quite a little pit, an excellent retreat from the bird's point of view. A robin redbreast had been singing in this bush all the morning, and I was pleased to discover it among the roots, apparently alive and well, in spite of the fact that a high-powered shell had burst only 100 feet away. One might think the concussion would have killed so small a bird, for it was bad enough for the human frame. Knowing possibly more about shells than the bird, I would appear immediately after the last piece of masonry had fallen down. The bird would be down among the roots, as still as a mouse, and would not show any signs of life for about one minute, when it would begin to work up very cautiously toward the top of the bush. The scream of the next shell was the signal for both of us to dive hastily back into our respective retreats. Five minutes after the last shell had fallen this particular redbreast was singing sweetly from the top branches of its bush, joined by several others in various parts of the village, in marked contrast with the solemn-faced and quiet men who emerged somewhat later from scattered dugouts all over the hillside to take stock of the damage done, the lives lost and the wounded who needed immediate attention. It is, of course, obvious that a small bird has a better chance of not being hit by a shell fragment than a man. If, therefore, its resistance to shell shock and concussion were about equal to that of man we would have partial explanation of the existence of bird life in the war zone. Although it is highly improbable that a bird is equally resistant, we must not overlook the best of preventatives, a barrier. Here again it is obvious that a tree trunk, a brick, a rafter would serve as an excellent deflector of concussion and sound waves for a bird crouched behind it, whereas these objects would totally fail to help a man."

HAS COLONIAL FLASK

George Washington Carried a "Dram" Bottle.

George Washington's "dram" bottle, used by him in Revolutionary war times, has come forth from its resting place in a Webster county (Ky.) farm home after a rest of nearly 150 years, for most of which time it has been kept under lock and key. In possession of its present owner, J. L. Sutton, a farmer, to whom it has been handed down as an heirloom, the small hand-painted flask, which was presented by General Washington to one of his colonial friends named Briscoe, was brought to Dixon this week and exhibited. Older residents of the county vouch for the history of the flask and its historical connections are authenticated well.

The flask was presented by one Briscoe to one Briscoe, ancestor of the Briscoe families of this county, and later was passed to Miss Martha Melton, who became the wife of Sutton. It is of a glazed composition, half-pint capacity, and bears evidence of its age. A leather case, used to sling the flask from the shoulder, was discarded 20 years ago by Sutton because of its time-worn condition. The bottle is temporarily in possession of County Judge A. L. Hall.

ALIENS EAGER TO RETURN

Brief Post-War Visit to Native Country Enough for Them.

Aliens who rushed back to their native countries at the end of the war are returning to the United States after brief visits to European countries. They are shocked by the poverty and desolation found in the war zones, and surprised to find the cost of food and clothing higher in Europe than in the United States.

Greeks, among the first to be granted passports after the war, are returning to the United States in great numbers. Similar conditions are apparent in Italy, where more than 2,000 Italians now are waiting passports to return to the United States.

There is little emigration now from Russia and Poland, but a general exodus is expected as soon as conditions become more settled. "Thousands of people are leaving Siberia for the United States."

WOODEN WATER PIPES

Unearthed in Boston While Laying New Mains.

Wooden water pipes, crumbling with age and long usage, which served the Devonshire street portion of Boston with water from the times of the Revolution to the Boston fire of 1872, have been unearthed while installing high pressure water pipes. Although the pipes have not been in use since the rebuilding of that section of the city which was devastated by the fire, they still are in fairly good condition.

Close behind one old pipe were found two pennies of the coinage of 1803 and 1841. The older of the coins is in almost perfect condition, despite the 116 years since it came from the mint. The fraction 1-100 is on the back of the coin.

Farmer Gets $900 Pearl.

While digging mussels in the Wabash river at Vincennes, Ind., recently, Martin Straw, a farmer, found a pearl which he sold to a Mt. Carmel (Ill.) jeweler for $900. Straw had only dug one pound of shells when he started cooking them and made the find.

States May Get Army Cars.

Representative Reavis of Nebraska, chairman of the quartermaster supplies sub-committee, has introduced a bill in the house calling for the distribution of 22,398 surplus army cars to state highway departments for use in road building.

The Bubble Man

By VICTOR REDCLIFFE

(Copyright, 1919, by the Western News-Paper Union.)

A little child of tender years seated in the lap of a lovely young lady at the window of an office across the court from that occupied by Dale Warren, professional promoter, was being amused by blowing bubbles. She prattled and cooed and laughed as her companion blew the rainbow-hued globes away from her dainty lips, and the fair picture of innocence and beauty would have entranced Warren, had not his mind been oppressed with serious business troubles.

He sat so vaguely taking in the court ensemble that it was only when a bubble from below gracefully ascended, and, caught by an awkward current of air, shot through the window and broke directly across his lips, that he awakened to the pretty picture. Some swift conception of sentiment caused him to glance at the source of the bubble. The lovely lips of the fair-faced young lady had blown the airy sphere. It had met his own, gentle as a kiss. She flushed and drew back, while the child in her lap uttered a shriek of delight as Warren's eyes snapped from the concussion of the ball of air and the filmy shower of daquiness.

"Blowing bubbles!" he muttered, almost indignantly. "That's me! And the last one has burst and I'm broke!"

Bubbles! bubbles! There was the speculative rainbow fancy of a great system for extracting gold from sea water, of revolutionizing the tanning industry by using the extract of a root common in Idaho; of a substitute for rubber that would cheapen tubes and hoses to a mere fraction of cost, and, last, but not least, a liquid, which, applied to half-grown melons, squashes and pumpkins would insure quadruple size by the time they were ripe!

He came back to normal police as some one entered the office. Looking up he greeted Boyd Dabzell, a broker whom he knew well. The latter unconsciously dropped into a chair directly at the side of Warren.

"I've come on business," announced Dabzell, "real business. See here, old man, I need you, but no old goose hunt for the future that never materializes. I'll give you $3,000 to come and talk with a man I've engaged, and a good fee on top of that. If you find a customer for a new device he has patented."

"What is it?" inquired Warren, and, when Dabzell, for prospective business only, was his lure.

"It's a bubble," replied Dabzell, and Warren stared at him suspiciously. "That is, a bubble idea. It's a wise old fellow named Sam Hardy. He's got the idea that he can make people with a bubble for an indicator—that old spirit level idea, say?"

"That is?"

"No, very practical for average use. I have demonstrated that, for the bubble is affected by atmospheric influences; but his experiments have been interesting. I'd like to get back the money I have sunk. You see if you can't work something out of the scheme, won't you? Hardy has an office in the next building. It's only a stop. Come on," and three minutes later Warren was ushered into a suite, and a chance into an inner room showed the girl and the child of the bubble episode. The young lady flushed as she noticed him. Warren was introduced to her father, there was an hour of conference, and Warren left the office with another glance at the charming Eunice Hardy and her little sister, Florence, and somehow gathered luck from the unique incidents of the hour. Ten days later, after an absence from the city, he returned to report to Dabzell.

"Well," he said, "I have an offer on your bubble scale. I've found a liquid that will maintain an equitable air bubble, and I've got a big offer for the device from a great coal mine in Pennsylvania. They can use such a scale, weighing loaded cars on the fly, and where the deviation of a few hundred pounds means little in the handling of tons. You see, the eight seconds a car is crossing the scale the bubble vibration ceases and the bubble chronicles a fairly accurate weight. What do you say to $50,000?"

"I say $25,000 for the inventor and the balance fifty-fifty for you and me," responded Dabzell briskly. "Warren, if I had your ability I'd drop chasing bubbles and graduate into a fair and square broker. Come over to Hardy's office with me. The old fellow will be wild with delight."

But Mr. Hardy was absent, and Dabzell went to look for him and left Warren for Eunice to entertain while he chased down the old inventor. Thereby those two became better acquainted, and two evenings later, when Warren called at the Hardy home, the Florence referred to "the kissing bubble," and Eunice flushed divinely, and Warren looked ardent and longing, and one afternoon somewhat later all three engaged in Florence's favorite amusement, and in a bubble she blew serenely floating in the golden sunlight the reflection of two faces, discovered suspiciously close together, caused her to cry out mischievously:

"Oh, Mr. Warren! I saw you and Eunice, and I'm going to tell papa when he comes home!"

"We are going to do that ourselves, little dear!" replied Warren, and he kissed Eunice again.

CATHEDRAL SUFFERS NO GREAT DAMAGE

Cardinal Lucon Says Reims Art Works Easily Can Be Restored.

After all, the Reims cathedral has not suffered from German bombardments and fire so much as was at first supposed. Cardinal Lucon has told a representative of the Paris Intransigant. The cardinal announced that divine service would be resumed in the cathedral from November 1, but the holy office will be restricted to the altar of the Virgin and the ambulatory around it. These will accommodate only about 1,500 persons.

The interviewer describes how he met the cardinal at Reims in a simply furnished apartment of the archiepiscopal palace, with a shell hole in the wall. Cardinal Lucon, despite his seventy-seven years, still is hale and alert and he is an optimist.

"Destroyed, my cathedral? Why, no," he said. "The damage is much more easily repairable than is generally believed. A few ancient parts, it is true, cannot be replaced, but the beauty of the cathedral lay, first in its stained glass, secondly in its sculptures and third in its statuary."

"Of the stained glass, nine-tenths has been saved and brought to Paris. The remaining tenth can be restored by specialists, with the aid of much patience and a great number of colored photographs we have. As regards the sculptures, we shall use the numerous moldings we have of them. Many have had to be restored anyway in the course of centuries, such as for instance, the large piece representing the Assumption. That was restored in 1875."

"As for the statuary, we have moldings that it will be easy to reproduce the damaged parts. The pillars, with their ornamented capitals, have suffered little, only the two side doorways have been badly damaged by fire."

"Was there not some talk of leaving the cathedral as it was?" the reporter asked.

"If the evidences of Teutonic barbarity had to be preserved, let them be kept in a private museum," replied the cardinal gravely.

Traction Owner Operated Street Car When Workmen Walked Out.

After the employees of his electric road had walked out, following a minor dispute, Col. Blon J. Arnold of Chicago, a millionaire engineer and owner of the Elgin-Belvidere electric line, piloted a two-car train through-out a 15-hour day and broke the strike.

Dressed in a $99 suit, Col. Arnold whirled through the 75-mile round trip between Elgin and Belvidere after the employees had refused to work. "At the end of the last trip," said Col. Arnold, "a committee of strikers came to me and asked to take the job off my hands. They agreed to come back under the old conditions, and they returned to work the next day."

FRENCH SCORN YANK SMOKES

Do Without Tobacco Unless They Can Get Their Own Favorite Mixture.

Paris.—The opinion of the average French smoker is that the government will not readily dispose of the billion packages of American cigarettes and enormous quantity of smoking tobacco bought of the American expeditionary force.

He admits that both cigarettes and tobacco are prepared with greater finish, that the quality may be finer, but he has the habit of the old French brand of tobacco, which is coarser, stronger and produces a far more disagreeable odor, and he wants no other.

The French brand, however, is scarce. It is distributed to the tobacco shops but once a week, in limited quantities, and, rather than accept the American substitute, the French smoker gets out early and stands in line patiently for two hours, in the hope of refilling his pouch.

Sometimes he goes away disappointed, the supply having given out before his turn came, but rarely does he accept the American substitute, which is not to his taste, and, moreover, is twice as costly.

FRENCH POPULATION SHRINKS

Aide From War Lore It Is 350,576 Less Than in 1917—"Fid" Is Elated.

Paris.—A continued shrinkage of the population of France is shown by the vital statistics of the republic for the year 1918, which has just appeared.

Without counting the war losses the French nation numbers 350,576 less than in 1917. These figures affect only the seventy-seven departments of France which were not in enemy occupation. They are the excess of deaths over births.

The decline is attributed mainly to the ravages of the influenza epidemic in the latter half of 1918 from which it is computed that about 200,000 persons died.

Compared with 1917, there was an increase in marriages of 13,364; but the number of divorces also rose from 5,572 to 8,321.

She kissed the child on each cheek and asked where she was from. When little Corlis proudly claimed California as her home the queen said: "Oh, so it was you that brought the sunshine."

RUBBER TUBE AND RIM FOUND IN BOY'S CHEST

Indiana Lad Had Complained of Pain and Physicians Were Puzzled.

Richard Lynch, aged five, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lynch, near Summitville, Ind., has suffered constant pain in his chest since he had double pneumonia more than a year ago. At that time he underwent an operation for relief to his lungs. Some of the physicians who examined the lad, in recent months decided his lungs were no longer affected and that he did not have heart disease.

One physician recommended that the boy should give his lungs vigorous exercise daily. The exercise apparatus as rigged up at his home was made of an inner tube of an automobile tire, and his parents had him to blow up the tube frequently. The boy had failed in this exercise during the last few days because of great pain that followed.

Dr. Will Moore, of Muncie, and Dr. Roscoe Besson, both formerly of Summitville, finally made an X-ray examination which disclosed a foreign substance near the heart. An operation performed Wednesday, disclosed a rubber tube one and one-half inches long and one-half inch in diameter, with a large safety pin attached cross-wise at one end of the tube.

It rested between the left lung and the heart. Then it was revealed that the tube had been inserted in the incision for the first operation to provide drainage. A nurse recalled that once when she dressed the incision she noticed the drainage tube was missing. She supposed that it had fallen into the lad's clothing and been lost.

The operation for removal of the tube and pin was so delicate that there is some doubt as to the lad's recovery, because of his weakened condition for several months.

She wrote to Detective David Beatty telling him she had learned her father, John Fewque, was living at Lorain, Ohio. Beatty published the letter in a newspaper and Mrs. Fewque, an aunt of the girl, and her grandfather, Samuel Fewque, read it.

They told the girl her father had died after he left Lorain ten years ago. Miss Fewque has been offered a home with her relatives.

BOOK VAN NUYS FOR SLACK'S JOB

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—L. Earl Slack, it has become known here, will not succeed himself as United States district attorney of Indiana when his present commission expires Jan. 1. In fact, up to this time Mr. Slack, according to the Department of Justice, has not indicated any desire for reappointment. It is said that he expects to return to his private law practice.

It developed that Indiana Democratic leaders have anticipated for some time that Mr. Slack would not continue as district attorney and they have been manifesting considerable interest in his successor.

It is known here that Fred Van Nuy, the present Democratic state chairman, is being supported for the place by the Democratic state organization, and that Van Nuy himself is highly hopeful of taking the appointment. However, he has not yet received any assurance that he will be the favorite.

Once-a-Week Polish
Keeps Teeth Stainless

"By using this fine powder, stone, tartar, and other harsh, dangerous substances, to remove the unsightly stains of discolored teeth from the mouth, simply because they have never been cleaned, and any tooth powder, paste or tooth brush would do the work. The reason these stains are so difficult to remove is that they are covered with a hard film, or 'plaque,' which the usual tooth brush cannot penetrate or dissolve. The problem of removing these obstinate stains has finally been solved by a new dental, who has originated a new tooth powder, 'Once-a-Week Polish.' This polish not only removes all discoloration easily and quickly, but it also keeps the teeth in a healthy condition, and is not intended as a substitute for dentifrices, but to be used in addition to them, once a week, as the name implies. It should be used by children, as well as adults, as a preventive of stains, tartar, decay, germs and pyorrhea."

HIGHER TAXES
ORDER OF DAY

CARL MOTE PRESENTS INTERESTING ALIBI AS APPLIED TO TWENTY-SIX COUNTIES

TAX LAW MAY BE INVOKED

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 17.—If any doubt ever existed regarding the effect of the tax law enacted by the Republicans at the last session of the legislature it has been removed by Carl Mote, chief of the "alibi brigade" laboring under the direction of Government Goodrich and the Republican machine in the hope of making the people believe that the tax law is a fine thing for them.

Mote was released from his position as secretary of the public service commission to study the operation of the tax law and to advise the people about it. The result of his efforts to date is to show conclusively that taxes are to be higher next year. All the taxpayers have to do is to "take it from Carl, the official representative of the Governor and the party organization," who concedes in a signed article in The Indianapolis Star that a survey he has made shows that taxes on farm property will be higher next year. This is a strange admission in view of the frantic effort of the Governor and others connected with the machine to make it clear that taxes are to be lower.

Mr. Mote's interesting alibi is applied to an experiment with 290 farms located in 2 counties. It may be taken as representative of the conditions existing throughout Indiana under the new law. The preamble to the alibi follows:

"The effect of the new tax law on farm real estate is shown fully in the appended table. The assessment of 290 farms is twenty-six counties of Indiana, comprising more than 30,000 acres, has increased from $1,097,080 under the old law to $3,328,500 under the new law. Taxes payable will amount to $2,516.15 under the new law as compared with $2,078.43 under the old. Of this increase amounting to $5,437.72 the sum of $1,298.12 will be collected on account of the new state levy of 3.9 cents for the building of the state highways.

Assuming that increased teachers' salaries will amount to $3,000,000 annually, as provided in a law enacted by the last General Assembly, the taxes for this purpose on these 290 farms will amount $1,644.25. Deducting $1,298.12 chargeable to state highways, and $1,644.25, chargeable to increased teachers' salaries, from the total increase in taxes there will remain $2,475.35 which is chargeable to the increased cost of state, county and township government generally, that is, increased cost of coal consumed in all public buildings, increased traveling expenses of state employes, increased cost of materials and supplies, including food and clothing, consumed in public owned and operated enterprises and institutions and increased cost of current repairs."

(The counties included are Allen, Benton, Cass, Dearborn, DeKalb, Decatur, Howard, Harrison, Hancock, Jasper, Jennings, Lagrange, Laporte, Monroe, Montgomery, Marshall, Owen, Parke, Perry, Randolph, Shelby, Switzerland, Wabash, White, Union and Sullivan. It appears from the statement of Mr. Mote on behalf of the Republican organization that the increase on the farms included is approximately 20 per cent at which ratio the total increase in Indiana would run into millions of dollars. In Marion county it is estimated that the taxes on farm property alone will be several hundred thousand dollars more than it was last year. In one township in this county the farmers are arranging to sue for an order enjoining the state tax board from maintaining a rate which greatly increases taxes.

In Mr. Mote's statement may be found the excuses which the Governor and the Republican organization will resort to next year in trying to make a good case for the law. The increase in taxes is being laid to the increase cost of city, county and state government, the higher salaries for school teachers, etc., which is a natural development that has nothing whatever to do with the operation of this unpopular tax law for which Mr. Mote has been employed to establish an alibi in the hope of making the people believe that they are wrong in condemning it.

YANKS, TRAPPED, WIN HOT FIGHT

Sensational Feat in Russia Not Surpassed in Whole History of War.

BETRAYED BY DESERTER

Americans Attacked While Asleep by Superior Force of Russians—Victory Finally Crowns Heroic Struggle of the Doughboys.

San Francisco.—Stories of heroism may be told of the Argonne until they are written in the pages of history, the gallantry of the American marines at Chateau Thierry may thrill mankind to the end of time itself, the glory of the western front may pass into the generations, but never will there be a story that can surpass the one brought home by the handful of Americans who battled at Romanofka, Siberia, on June 23, 1919.

It was disclosed here for the first time by Lieut. Lawrence D. Butler of the Thirty-first infantry. With the lower half of his jaw shot away a wound received in the engagement, Butler recited the tale haltingly.

Guided by American. An American soldier deserted and guided a numerically superior force of Russians to a poorly protected camp, where the Americans were bivouacked. They were sleeping when the onslaught opened. The Russians were massed on the crest of a heavily timbered hill commanding the entire camp, and poured a deadly rifle and machine gun fire into the thin khaki ranks. There were seventy-two doughboys when the fight started. When it ended twenty-eight were dead and twenty-five others were severely wounded. Five of the company have been recommended for the Distinguished Service cross.

The Russians had posed as simple country folk, friendly to the Americans. They outnumbered their benefactors ten to one. But when they turned to attack they fired even into their own homes where some of the Americans had fled for protection against the hail of steel pellets that rained into the camp. Victory finally crowned the heroic struggle of the doughboys.

"Most of the boys who were killed never had a chance to leave their beds," the officer said. "They were shot while asleep. The others came scrambling out, and fought in their underclothing. I ordered them on to advance in skirmish order. They moved as though on the drill ground. A corporal, already wounded in the foot, led them. He walked and the men followed."

Buried Without "Taps." "We reached a low-lying fence, and I organized my defense with two men on each flank, three to protect the rear, and sixteen facing the enemy. This is the manner in which the men met the Russians, armed with German and Russian rifles.

"My orderly was behind me, carrying my rifle. My pistol was empty, and I turned to him, asking for the rifle. As he handed it to me his head was blown off. I was wounded in the leg by an American bullet, fired by a Russian."

"A Russian ran to our ammunition tent. I put my head out of a window in a house where I had gone to pick a sharpshooter and received a bullet in the jaw. My teeth flew over the place like so many pellets. Before long, though, we had them on the run."

"When the fight was all over the victors started to bury the enemy dead. Lying face down, shot three times in the back, they found the body of the former 'buddie' who had betrayed them. He, too, was buried, but no taps bade him rest in peace."

THAT CHANGE IN WOMAN'S LIFE

Mrs. Godden Tells How It May be Passed in Safety and Comfort.

Fremont, O.—"I was passing through the critical period of life, being forty-six years of age and had all the symptoms incident to that change—heat flashes, nervousness, and was in a general run down condition, so it was hard for me to do my work. I feel better and stronger in every way since taking it, and the annoying symptoms have disappeared."—Mrs. M. Godden, 325 Napoleon St., Fremont, Ohio.

BOLD ATTEMPT
SUNDAY TO ROB
COUNTRY HOME

FURNITURE, RUGS, CLOTHING, BEDDING ROLLED UP ALL READY TO BE HAULED AWAY WHEN MR. AND MRS. THOMAS TALBOTT REACH THEIR HOME EAST OF TOWN AT NEAR 8 O'CLOCK IN THE EVENING

BELIEVE ROBBERS HAD TRUCK

The arrival home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Talbott, who live near Delmar, east of Greencastle, at near 8 o'clock Sunday evening, frustrated plans to rob their home of virtually everything that could be hauled away.

When they arrived home Mr. and Mrs. Talbott found their rugs, curtains, bedding, clothing and other articles all rolled up ready to be carried away. An oil stove had been moved onto the front porch, ready to be loaded and numerous other articles had been piled up ready to be hauled away.

It is believed that the robbers had a truck and were just ready to load the property when they were scared away by the approach of Mr. and Mrs. Talbott. The telephone wires had been broken by the robbers so that the telephone could not be used.

When Mr. and Mrs. Talbott approached their home, Mr. Talbott though he detected a flash of a light in the house and when he reached the house he thought he heard some one climb over a wire fence at the rear of the home.

The robbers used a big pry bar to force open a window through which entrance was gained. A Ford truck, seen on the road near the house at about the time Mr. and Mrs. Talbott reached their home, is believed to have been operated by the robbers.

A pocket book, owned by Mrs. Talbott which contained some change some shirts and silk scarf were taken by the robbers. The officers say that the attempt to rob this house is about the holdest ever recorded in this county.

GET FOUR RABBITS, TWO
QUAIL AND ONE DOG

Two Greencastle business men, who occasionally enjoy a hunting or fishing trip, slipped away from their business on Wednesday and went to the woods in search of game. One of these men, this fall, had purchased himself a fine bird dog, to assist in locating the elusive quail.

The dog was one of the Wednesday hunting party. Late in the evening when the hunters returned to town, they carried four rabbits, two quail and a dog. This was the same dog which followed them off in the morning. But one of the hunters during the excitement of a bombardment of a rabbit missed the rabbit and hit the dog. It is hoped that the injuries to the canine will not result fatally.

FORD COMPANY BEGAN ON STARTER IN 1911

Henry Ford Tested the Ford Starting and Lighting System on his own car for one year.

Ten months ago the Ford Motor Company was not manufacturing electric starters; today the output of its Starter Department is greater than that of any other manufacturer of electric starting devices in the world. Its nearest competitor makes one thousand a day, whereas the Ford Company's output is fast approaching the three thousand mark, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one already having been manufactured in one day.

The Ford starter—and generator, for it is really two separate units—set the result of a new idea or of a decision. More than eight years ago Mr. Henry Ford's vision saw the need, and his electrical engineers were instructed to begin experimenting. After seven years of constant research, which took into consideration the many different climates in which the Ford car is used, together with the factors of size and weight and an adaptability to quantity of production, twenty-three trial jobs were built. These were tested in many different ways. Mr. Ford himself used one on his car for a year. Still the engineers continued their experiments and improvements.

Then came the order from the government for 15,000 three-ton tanks, each one of which was to be equipped with two synchronized Ford Motors. A starter was essential, as the one now being installed on Ford cars was evolved. But, only one starter and generator was used to turn over the two Ford motors in each tank. January first 1919 the Ford Motor Company began equipping enclosed cars with this new starting and lighting system. Ford engineers say that although the entire system—Starter and Generator—weighs only thirty-one pounds, it produces a higher torque output (constant rotary motion) pound for pound, than any other system on the market.

When the department for building the Starting and Lighting Systems first began production, fifty hours labor was charged to each unit, but now that machinery and equipment have been installed, the time per unit is four hours. Two huge armatures impregnating ovens have been installed, each with a capacity of 1700 every eight hours. In these ovens the armatures are dried, soaked in varnish and dried again. Eight hours time is required for this one operation.

The power from the starter to the Motor is applied through the well known Bendix drive, which automatically engages the starter and then, once the motor is started, the starter immediately disengages. It is equipped with oilless bearings and needs practically no attention.

Within another thirty days or six weeks, the Ford company expects to be making enough starters so that every Ford car will be equipped with the new Electric Starting and Lighting System. 1d wk

FRIDAY'S THIRD FIRE AT THE DOBELL HOME

A fire on the roof of the J. T. Dobell home on East Anderson street at near 4:30 o'clock on Friday afternoon, marked the third fire of the day, two other fires having occurred earlier in the day. The fire at the Dobell home resulted from a spark on the roof. The firemen checked the flames before any great damage had been done, the loss being mostly to the roof. The damage will amount to something like $250.

The first fire of the day was at the Rosa Bower, the DePauw hospital building, while the second was at the Harry Moore rental property in north Greencastle.

Sergeant Wilbur Stewart has applied for discharge from the regular army and when discharged he will make his home in Greencastle.

PURDUE WINS ANNUAL GAME WITH DEPAUW

BOILER MAKERS HAVE NO TROUBLE IN DEFEATING TIGERS IN CONTEST PLAYED AT LAFAYETTE ON SATURDAY

THE SCORE IS 24 TO 0

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 15.—Out-classed and outplayed in all departments of the game the DePauw football team was defeated by a 24-to-0 score in its game played here this afternoon with Purdue. Wonderful offensive was displayed by the Boiler Maker aggregation and the Purdue line held so well that DePauw did not have a chance to get in scoring distance of the local school's goal line. Coach Scanlon's athletes entered the contest with the DePauw victory of last season hanging over them, therefore, displayed one of the best examples of Purdue fight and one of the most brilliant exhibitions of football seen here in the past ten years.

Pauw did not have a look in all through the contest but, nevertheless, the Tigers kept fighting for every down as a result were able to stage several real rallies during which the wearers of the Old Gold and Black were unable to gain successfully through the DePauw line or around its ends. From the time the Purdue athletes received the ball on the kick-off, there was not any doubt as to the result of the contest. Scanlon started right in by ripping off long gains through the line and by skirting the ends of the opponents for gains of from five to thirty-five yards. DePauw seemed to lack the aggressiveness that it displayed in the Walsh contest of last week, as the men from Greencastle were not sure of the plays and their work both defensive and offensive was exceedingly slow.

There was little difference in the average weight of the two teams, but the Purdue contingent always had the jump on the wearers of the Old Gold uniforms, opening up huge holes in the DePauw line nearly every time the Purdue back field men carried the ball and breaking through the DePauw line when they were on the defense and throwing the DePauw carriers of the pigskin for large losses. Woodt, the DePauw quarter-back, started calling for punts on first down nearly every time his men gained possession of the ball.

Starting the second quarter, DePauw opened up with its forward pass attack which was so successful against Walsh, but which failed miserably here this afternoon as only three passes were completed, six were intercepted and five were intercepted by Purdue men. Galloway, the male cog in the DePauw offensive machine, failed to display any of his brilliant open field running as he could not elude the Purdue forward wall as though they had nothing in front of them. When Purdue gained nearly all of the time during the contest, large holes were opened in the line and the ends were boxed in constantly on end runs. The DePauw secondary defense had an afternoon of work for it was only the men playing back of the forward wall that stood between Purdue and at least four more touch downs.

NEW WAGE NEGOTIATION PROCESS IS EXPECTED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Prospects for progress today in negotiations for a settlement of the coal strike, at least in the central competitive field, were considered good. The operators' scale committee, after two days' work, had practically ready for submission to the miners' committee a counter-proposal on wages and working hours to be fixed in new contract. Its exact terms were carefully guarded, and Secretary of Labor Wilson's declaration on opening the joint conference that the thirty-hour week and 60 per cent. increase in pay which the miners asked "was impossible," was the only indication as to what they might be.

That the operators would offer some increases was taken as a foregone conclusion.

Mr. and Mrs. Will F. Fisher, of Indianapolis, and Miss Marie Fisher and Joe. Fisher, of Crawfordsville, motored to Greencastle Sunday to spend the day with Miss Anne Cannon.

Dr. and Mrs. Horace Askew are spending a week in the country with Mrs. Askew's father, J. C. Bridges. Miss Sallie Hirt is confined to her home on East Seminary street, by illness.

MANY DISABLED VETERANS STILL IN ARMY HOSPITALS

Although it is a year since the signing of the armistice, about 25,000 of our American boys are still in hospitals remaining us of the price we paid in the great war.

These are boys that suffered from some serious wound of defense, and are courageously pulling through by patience and medical skill. Perhaps only one-half of this number will ever be well enough to take up life normally again. They will need the most thorough vocational retraining that can be given, as they must learn from the beginning to master the new professions compatible with their new condition.

The Federal Board of Vocational Education is planning for these seriously disabled men. Already vocational advisers in hospitals have talked with the men, and given them something to look forward to in the way of a useful life. As soon as they are released from the hospitals, they will be given training in some vocation for which they are fitted and by which they can become self-supporting citizens.

These are the boys who will be ### the last to receive training under the Board.

POLITICAL GOSSIP FROM WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—For the information of the Republican leaders as well as for the information of the entire country, Eastern newspapers of all political persuasions are now pointing out that a clear cut issue is presented to the next Congress which convenes in regular session on December 1. It is that either the Republican leaders must order the Republicans in Congress to abandon their program of doing nothing or must suffer the condemnation of the country at large.

"What has been accomplished by this Congress" is the question asked and the answer is given in the terse phrase: "Absolutely nothing." The do-nothing program definitely outlined by the Republican leaders has been achieved. Every endeavor to do something has been frustrated by one plan or another and these side-stepping dances have been clothed by one excuse or another to make the people believe something has been done.

The time has come to put patriotism first and partisanship last is the note of warning issued to the Republicans. That puny and patrid political practices have controlled this Congress in the special session and that the nation has suffered there by, every one in touch with Congress conceded. That the Republicans will have not only nominal support but enthusiastic co-operation from the Democrats if they formulate a progressive and constructive legislation campaign also is conceded. The Republicans in absolute control of both Houses must answer and the time for a decision as to future policy is growing short. A frank confession of errors of policy in this session would be a good start for the Republicans, as the "do-nothing Congress" this session has become known and thus it will go down in history.

The conditions facing the country and facing the next Congress are regarded by these news papers as of paramount importance to demand a review. The problems of the reconstruction period have increased with this lack of attention but this increase has only accentuated the necessity that something be done. The unrest which came with the high cost of living has manifested itself from day to day until no longer Senators and Representatives can sit idly by or true creations and then advise the people that the executive departments must shoulder the burden of this allaying unrest.

Last now the House has considered the railroad bill, probably the most important bill before Congress and the result has been a hodge-podge of ideas coming from both chambers, a divergence of views, until it will depend upon the conference committee as what will be finally formulated as to the railroad program. And this after the months and months of idleness and this also after the President had expressly called upon Congress for some action to permit him to return the railroads by January 1.

The review made by the Eastern papers show that the following legislative results had in the House:

Drastic prohibition enforcement legislation was adopted, the suffrage legislation was passed, several tariff laws were approved and the appropriation measures held up by Republican filibuster in the preceding session were gotten through.

The House sidestepped the question of the high cost of living, the question of providing legislation to curb anarchistic practices, the question of rewarding the returned soldiers by enactment of either land bills, or bonus awards, all labor legislation, all legislation to assist the farming interests every recommendation as to revision of taxation, the future military policies including the development of aviation.

The Senate has done nothing except ionized the peace treaty and pass the appropriation bills, the drastic enforcement legislation and the suffrage measures. Senators have excused themselves on the ground that all time was consumed with consideration of the peace treaty but this will be no excuse to those who know there were months when every opportunity was had to consider constructive domestic legislation.

The Republican leaders must answer, the Eastern press insists. They must put their record of accomplishments for the next session alongside the record made by the Democrats in the eight years they controlled Congress and must go to the country upon that comparison. The people it is suggested, can no longer be fooled by the program of doing nothing.

Woman to Woman.

When women have been very much benefited by a medicine she can hardly refrain from telling other women about it. Mrs. L. O. Seitz, Lima, Ohio writes "I have a very high opinion of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My mother had a severe bronchial cough for months. After taking numerous cough medicines without relief she was finally cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I take pleasure in recommending it."

MANY TO MAKE SHERIFFS RACE THE FORECAST

ALTHOUGH PRIMARY ELECTION IS FAR, FAR AWAY, ALREADY THERE IS MUCH TALK AMONG THE DEMOCRATS REGARDING CANDIDATES FOR ONE OFFICE

AT LEAST SEVEN TO RUN

Although the Democratic primary election is months away, already there is much talk about the race for the nomination for sheriff and indications are that the office will be much sought after. It is predicted by some that at least seven and maybe ten candidates will seek the nomination.

Already several of those who are mentioned as probable candidates are putting out "feelers" and getting their preliminary work done. Some have gone so far as to announce definitely that they will make the race.

Among those who are mentioned as probable candidates are Elijah Wallace, the local stock dealer; Hark Jackson of Greencastle transfer man; Fred Lancaster, the present deputy sheriff; Allen Eggers, a north Putnam County farmer; Jesse Hamrick, a Greencastle township resident; Edward Eiteljorge, a Madison township farmer; and Sylvanus Hurst, another Greencastle resident. Each of these men are well known throughout the county and if others enter the race the field will be a big one.

Subject to Croup.

"When my son Charles was about eight years of age he was subject to attacks of croup and I never felt safe without a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. That remedy when given according to the directions relieves him immediately. I cannot praise Chamberlain's Cough Remedy too highly," writes Mrs. Charles Conden, Clayville, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newgent received a message from their son, Robert, who has been in the Navy since early in the war stating that he soon will land in the States. Newgent has been with a fleet of ships sweeping mines from off the Scotland coast.

SUSPENSION OF MINING NOT TO BE TOLERATED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Warning to the miners and operators that the government would not tolerate the continued suspension of mining activity in the bituminous fields was expected today from the federal fuel administrator, H. A. Garfield, at the joint conference of the scale committee. [The conference called for yesterday was postponed until today.

Drastic steps now are believed to be imperative in view of the rapid depletion of the coal supply and the apparent deadlock between the miners and operators in the negotiations for a new wage agreement. Mr. Garfield was prepared to exercise his full power as fuel administrator to bring coal production back to normal and relieve the public of the anxiety of facing the winter without sufficient fuel.

The course of action the government will pursue to enforce its demands has not been intimidated.

THE ZINC MILL CLOSES DOWN

FUEL SHORTAGE HITS THE FIRST GREENCASTLE INDUSTRY AND FORCES IT TO CLOSE DOWN FOR INDEFINITE PERIOD—USES 40 TONS OF COAL A DAY

NO HELP IS IN SIGHT

The American Zinc Products Co., at 11 o'clock Wednesday, closed down its mills for an indefinite period. The close-down is occasioned by lack of fuel, the mill having exhausted its supply of coal this morning.

As the mill uses something like 40 tons a day, and with the miners on a strike and no coal available, it appears as though the mill would be closed down for some time. However, the management of the mill is busy with telegrams and phone messages attempting to get a supply.

As it is the mill management is to be congratulated on its ability to keep running until this time, as similar industries all over the country had been forced to close many days ago, because of the coal shortage.

DOCTOR TOLD HIM TO TAKE IT

HAD SUFFERED SINCE HE WAS A BOY TEN YEARS OLD—TAN-LAC RESTORES HEALTH

"I have been in bad health ever since I was a boy ten years old, and have taken all sorts of medicines treatments, but I never got rid of my troubles until I commenced taking Tanlac," said William Edwards, who is employed at the Ford Motor Works, and who lives at 2139 Olive street, Indianapolis, Ind., while talking to a Tanlac representative the other day.

"I was in pretty bad shape when I commenced taking Tanlac," continued Mr. Edwards, "for I had been fighting my troubles for twenty long years and they had about gotten the best of me. I was under treatment all the time, and was told that my trouble was nervous indigestion, but the treatment I was getting didn't seem to do me any good at all. I cut out everything to eat except milk and eggs, but this seemed to cause me just as much suffering as anything else. After eating I would bloat up with gas and would have the worst sort of pains in the pit of my stomach. I also suffered from pains across my back right over my kidneys, and this trouble got so bad that when I stooped over I could hardly straighten up again. Sometimes while walking along the street I would have spells of dizziness and would have to grab a post or lean against a building to keep from falling. For the past fifteen years, I have been bothered a lot with constipation, and had to take a laxative about every other night. I tell you, I was in bad shape in every way, and it just seemed impossible for me to find anything that would give me any relief.

"Then I heard about Tanlac, and made up my mind to give it a trial, but before I commenced taking it, I asked my doctor what he thought about it, and he told me to go ahead, that Tanlac would probably do me lots of good. Well, my doctor advised me right, for Tanlac has simply knocked my troubles winding, and I never felt better in my life than I do now. I have a fine appetite and can eat just anything I want and as much as I want, and I never suffer afterwards. My nerves are in perfect condition now and I sleep like a log every night. Those dizzy spells don't bother me any more, and I never have the slightest sign of pain in my back. In fact, my troubles have been completely overcome, and I am enjoying first class health in every particular. My wife was all run down, and suffered from stomach trouble, and she too has been taking Tanlac, and it has done her a world of good. We are both so pleased with Tanlac that we never lose an opportunity to recommend it to others, and we wouldn't take any amount of money for the good it has done us."

Tanlac is sold in Greencastle by R. P. Mullins, and A. R. York, Cloverdale.

Miss Christine Booth is ill of nervous prostration at her home in the Landes apartments.
